

CONSENT TO PARTICIPATE IN A RESEARCH STUDY

Below is a description of the research procedures and an explanation of your rights as a research participant. You should read this information carefully. If you agree to participate, you will click continue at the bottom of this page to indicate that you have read and understand the information on this consent form. You are entitled to and will receive a copy of this form upon request.

You have been asked to participate in a research study entitled Well-Being and Identity conducted by Viet-Hung Nguyen, a student in the Department of Psychology at the University of San Francisco. This faculty supervisor for this study is Dr. Indre Viskontas, a professor in the Department of Psychology at the University of San Francisco.

WHAT THE STUDY IS ABOUT:

This study investigates the relationship between certain identity and family attributes and well-being. Therefore, it is important that you respond honestly and take your time with the survey.

WHAT WE WILL ASK YOU TO DO:

During this study, you will be asked to answer questions about your well-being. You will also be asked about identities involving yourself and your family.

DURATION AND LOCATION OF THE STUDY:

Your participation in this study will involve one session that lasts no more than 30 minutes. The study will be conducted online using a Qualtrics survey.

POTENTIAL RISKS AND BENEFITS:

We anticipate minimal risks/discomforts for most participants.

Some questions ask about your identity, and some people may experience mild discomfort or embarrassment from disclosing certain parts of their identity. Questions about well-being may remind you of uncomfortable circumstances. Average levels of fatigue may be experienced while taking the survey. If you wish, you may choose to withdraw your consent and discontinue your participation at any time during the study without penalty.

In the unlikely event that you experience significant mental discomfort, you may utilize a list of mental health resources provided here. Additionally, this list will be presented again at the end of the study:
